

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Aware of the risks, government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians did not inform patients and ignored warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry & have never fully compensated those affected.

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Aware of the risks, government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians did not inform patients and ignored warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry & have never fully compensated those affected.

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Aware of the risks, government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians did not inform patients and ignored warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry & have never fully compensated those affected.

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Aware of the risks, government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians did not inform patients and ignored warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry & have never fully compensated those affected.

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians were aware of the risks posed by these products but did not inform patients and ignored all safety warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry into what happened and have never fully compensated those affected.

I support the call for:

a UK wide public inquiry that can compel witnesses under oath, will release all documents for public scrutiny and have a remit to consider failures in government policy and negligence by public bodies.

the provision of compensation to those affected.

Signed:

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians were aware of the risks posed by these products but did not inform patients and ignored all safety warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry into what happened and have never fully compensated those affected.

I support the call for:

a UK wide public inquiry that can compel witnesses under oath, will release all documents for public scrutiny and have a remit to consider failures in government policy and negligence by public bodies.

the provision of compensation to those affected.

Signed:

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians were aware of the risks posed by these products but did not inform patients and ignored all safety warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry into what happened and have never fully compensated those affected.

I support the call for:

a UK wide public inquiry that can compel witnesses under oath, will release all documents for public scrutiny and have a remit to consider failures in government policy and negligence by public bodies.

the provision of compensation to those affected.

Signed:

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY

In the 70s and 80s over 4,500 people with bleeding disorders were multiply-infected with a range of blood-borne viruses including Hepatitis C and HIV via their treatment with contaminated blood products.

Government, pharmaceutical companies and clinicians were aware of the risks posed by these products but did not inform patients and ignored all safety warnings.

Successive Governments have refused to hold a public inquiry into what happened and have never fully compensated those affected.

I support the call for:

a UK wide public inquiry that can compel witnesses under oath, will release all documents for public scrutiny and have a remit to consider failures in government policy and negligence by public bodies.

the provision of compensation to those affected.

Signed:

THE HAEMOPHILIA SOCIETY